2. Name change of the committee

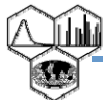

During the course of 2014, the name of the Committee has changed from

“New Sampling Strategies Committee”

To

“Alternative Sampling Strategies Committee”.

The rationale behind this is that strategies that were (relatively) new some 6 years ago cannot be truly considered “new” anymore, yet remain “alternative”, i.e. lead to samples that are distinct from (classical) blood, plasma, serum and urine.

International Association of Therapeutic Drug Monitoring & Clinical Toxicology | Annual General Assembly, October 13, 2015

3. Activities since the Salt Lake City Meeting

The planned activities, mentioned in the previous report, were:

- Publish presentations/posters from SLC meeting on website
- Update on the use of DBS for monitoring (markers of) drugs of abuse (by Christophe Stove)
- Meeting on Alternative Sampling Strategies in Ghent (Belgium) on Sept 18-19, 2014

Achievements:

- There was no possibility yet to post things online (that part of the new IATDMCT website is still-in-progress)
- An update on the use of DBS for monitoring (markers of) drugs of abuse was published in Bioanalysis (Vol 6: 2211-2227; <http://www.future-science.com/doi/abs/10.4155/bio.14.156>).
- The main activity of the Committee was the organization of an IATDMCT Satellite Symposium on “Alternative Sampling Strategies in Toxicology and Therapeutic Drug Monitoring”.

International Association of Therapeutic Drug Monitoring & Clinical Toxicology | Annual General Assembly, October 13, 2015

3. Activities since the Salt Lake City Meeting

Symposium on “Alternative Sampling Strategies in Toxicology and Therapeutic Drug Monitoring”.

- While Christophe Stove was the main organizer, the Committee was also involved in the scientific part of the Symposium.
- Several members of the Committee attended the meeting and had an active participation (e.g. in the format of a presentation or functioning as a chair of a session).
- Other members that could not participate at the meeting were available for abstract reviewing.
- A report of the meeting was published in the December 2014 issue of IATDMCT Compass.
- The abstract book, as well as over half of the Symposium's presentations is freely available at <http://alternativesamplingstrategies.com/Program.html>.
